Copyright Compliance

Your thesis or dissertation is a public dissemination of your research or creative work and as such will be made available to the scholarly community through the NC Docks online repository. This is a non-commercial, open-access archive of institutional scholarly work. By submitting this form you agree to have a copy of your work placed in the repository, and you affirm that the content of your submission does not, to the best of your knowledge, infringe upon anyone's copyright through plagiarism, unapproved reproduction of materials, or improper citation.

I understand and agree: _____ Yes _____ No

Release of the Materials

As a public dissemination of your work, your thesis or dissertation will be made available online through Appalachian State's Belk Library one semester (approximately 3 months) after graduation. Persons may find your published work by searching online library databases such as WorldCat.org for you, your Committee Chair, the general area, or the key words you provide. You may request that we hold your manuscript from public dissemination for up to one additional semester if one of the situations below applies. Your request for a delay in posting must be approved by both your Committee Chair and the Graduate School Dean.

_____ I have begun the process to seek a patent

_____ I am actively in copyright/publisher negotiations (other than a standard journal submission)
